

About the Author

Author of Coffee, Tea and Holy Water (Abingdon Press, 2015), Amanda Hudson is a writer and world traveler living in Nashville, Tenn.

Hudson was born in Auburn, Alabama. She grew up in Florence, Alabama, and graduated with a B.A. in Journalism from Auburn University.

Hudson has written for numerous publications, including The TimesDaily, PurePolitics.com, The Auburn Plainsman, Southern Living magazine, mental_floss magazine, The EBSCO Bugle, Motivation Strategies magazine, Incentives and Meeting International, Shoals magazine, Shoals Woman magazine and Baptists Today.

Hudson has worked at Southern Living and EBSCO Information Services in Birmingham, Alabama and AFLAC in Nashville, Tennessee. While in Birmingham she attended Church of the Highlands.

Hudson currently lives in Nashville and attends Cross Point church. In her spare time, she enjoys reading, photography, BBC miniseries and travel. She is an avid fan of Downton Abbey, coffee and Auburn football.

Favorite books: Mere Christianity, Gone With the Wind, The Hunger Games, End of the Spear, A Million Miles in a Thousand Years and The Kite Runner.

Favorite quote: "Trust in the Lord with all your heart, and lean not on your own understanding. In all your ways, acknowledge him, and he will make your paths straight." Proverbs 3:5-6